1. Introduction

Givaudan is an industry leader in flavour & taste, functional & nutritional ingredients, fragrance and beauty. We celebrate the beauty of human experience by creating for 'happier, healthier lives with love for nature' and together with our customers we deliver food experiences, craft inspired fragrances and develop beauty and wellbeing solutions that make people look and feel good.

Our two principal business activities, Taste & Wellbeing and Fragrance & Beauty, provide customers with a broad range of solutions that meet consumer demands for clean label, organic and natural ingredients in addition to being our customers' creative partner of choice. In Taste & Wellbeing, our ambition is to shape the future of food, taking a "human" approach in our relationships with customers and caring for nature. We go beyond great taste to create food experiences that do good and feel good, for body, mind and planet. Fragrance & Beauty crafts inspired fragrances and develops innovative beauty and wellbeing solutions that make people look as good as they feel, and nature is both our responsibility and our most precious muse. We have built a diverse portfolio across personal care, fabric care, hygiene, home care, fine fragrances, and beauty

Our customers include global, regional and local companies who are present in these segments and Givaudan is operating through more than 185 locations worldwide and more than 79 production sites.

Givaudan has its Group Headquarter in Vernier, Switzerland and Givaudan is a publicly listed company, on the SIX Swiss Stock Exchange, since 2000. 2. Tax governance and organisation

2.1 Tax policy

The Group Chief Financial Officer (CFO) maintains overall ownership of the Tax Policy, although the policy is developed by the Group Head of Tax. The Audit Committee, a sub-committee of the Board of Directors, approves the Tax Policy based on the recommendation of the Group CFO.

Setting governance and sustainability at the centre of our tax obligations management contributes to the Group's overall strategy while aligning with the diverse and fast changing tax environment.

Givaudan is operating its Tax activities and objectives in line with the Group's Tax Policy and the overall Governance structure of the Group. The activities of Group Tax and the wider organisation are also governed by the Group's business conduct policies, internal control guidelines and external Corporate Governance, finance and accounting regulations as appropriate.

2.2 Tax objectives

The Group Tax function aims to assure tax compliance across the Group and to develop and implement efficient and sustainable tax platforms to enable and support the broader growth objectives of the Group. The Group Tax organisation, under the leadership of the Group Head of Tax, has a primary mandate to define policies and procedures, which adhere to these objectives and are aligned with the underlying business objectives of the Group.

2.3 Roles and responsibilities

The Tax policy and the application thereof requires clarity over the respective roles and responsibilities within the organisation. Givaudan operates Tax under a Global Centre of Excellence structure, which is centrally led at Group Level, with execution support being evident across the finance organisations within the affiliate network and with Givaudan Business Solutions.

August 2022

The Group Head of Tax has the operational responsibility for execution of the Tax Policy, both at central and affiliate level as well as for ensuring that adequate controls are established across the Tax activities.

3. Tax strategy and risk management

The long term tax strategy developed by the Group and approved by the Board, has compliance and sustainability at the core. It is the intention of the Group to respect the compliance obligations under both international and domestic principles and laws. The tax strategy takes a long term view and strives to create a robust and sustainable platform for the Group. It relies on the following key pillars:

- Enterprise Model Design lies at the heart of the tax structure of the Group and is designed to create an efficient and compliant tax structure through which to execute the business activities of the Group. The ownership of the Enterprise Model is at HQ level, with the principles and structures implemented consistently on a worldwide basis;
- Transfer Pricing Structure, in accordance with OECD and local country requirements, as well as the operational execution of Transfer Pricing activities falls under the ownership of the Tax function. Whilst recognising and considering the different impacts which transfer pricing may have in other areas (e.g. customs duties) the tax function will take a Group view in developing and implementing the appropriate measures. As far as possible, the transactional execution of transfer pricing across the Group will be performed by the Givaudan Business Solutions organisation, under the supervision of the Group Tax function, making use of the integrated and automated dynamic transfer pricing system as far as that is deployed;
- Allied to the Enterprise Model design and as a major component of the Group's transfer pricing philosophy, we will strive to reach transparent and bi-lateral advance pricing agreements (APA's) between Switzerland and the other jurisdictions in which we operate. These multi-year agreements provide security and predictability around the tax position of the Group and its affiliates. Where APA's are not an available tool to secure agreement with the tax authorities, the Group ensures that the transfer pricing aspects of our activities are very well documented and that we proactively engage in building a constructive and transparent dialogue with the relevant tax authorities;
- Tax Planning activities within the Group are managed on a progressive basis using a consistent methodology and supported by Givaudan Business Solutions. It is the intention of the Group to fully adhere to our over-arching tax strategy and in doing so ensure that we guide our affiliate results appropriately;
- The Group aims to avoid tax controversy however will take appropriate and reasonable measure to protect our interests where tax controversy may arise. At the same time the Group will maintain a prudent position when it comes to the assessment and reporting of tax risks, whether at central or affiliate level;

- Group Tax manages its activities in line with the Group defined Internal Control Framework. Whilst the nature of the activities tends to be less transactional and system driven, it is important that all decision making processes have appropriate audit trail, authorisations, managerial and monitoring framework facilitating transparency and identification and measurement of financially relevant aspects of tax activities within the Group;
- Group Tax manages its activities in line with the Group defined Internal Control Framework. Whilst the nature of the activities tends to be less transactional and system driven, it is important that all decision making processes have appropriate audit trail, authorisations, managerial and monitoring framework facilitating transparency and identification and measurement of financially relevant aspects of tax activities within the Group;
- In relationship with the tax authorities in the countries where we operate, the Group may be subject to external reporting obligations under regulations relating to the country level tax Laws and is committed to adhere to those requirements in a compliant and efficient manner.
